

Trauma and Survival in the Contemporary Church: Historical, Archival, and Missional Responses

Call for Proposals for Papers and Workshops to be presented during the Tri-History Conference, a cooperative, triennial conference on the history of the Episcopal Church and its antecedents, to be held at Trinity College and Wycliffe College in the University of Toronto, Toronto, Ontario, Canada June 18-21, 2019.

The Joint Planning Committee of the Tri-History Conference welcomes proposals for papers and workshops by established scholars, graduate students, archivists, and other researchers and practitioners, clerical and lay, on any topic related to the theme of Anglican/Episcopal responses to historical experiences of traumas from the Reformation to the present.

Some examples of potential traumas include: political and social upheavals; displacement and refugee identities; personal, psychological trauma and experiences of sexual abuse; Indigenous identity and the legacy of Residential Schools; community disestablishment, realignment, and schism; war; liturgical and doctrinal revision; and natural and human made disasters. In addition to substantial consideration of the identified trauma from historical and theological perspectives, and the response of the Church, archival implications (sources, preservation, migration, erasure, memory, research) should also be addressed

Submitted proposals should be no longer than 300 words and include a title, abstract, author/proposer information, and any special technical requirements. Acceptable presentations will be delivered in 15-20 minutes, with a few more minutes for audience interaction. Submit proposals by email to Dr. Jonathan Lofft (jonathan.lofft@mail.utoronto.ca) no later than January 1, 2019. Those making proposals will be notified of their receipt within a week of submission. Acceptance or rejection of the proposal will be communicated before February 1, 2019.

The Tri-History Conference is sponsored by the Episcopal Women's History Project (EWHP), the Historical Society of the Episcopal Church (HSEC), and National Episcopal Historians and Archivists (NEHA).
Additional conference information may be found at trihistory.org/2019.

ewhp.org

episcopalhistorians.org

hsec.us

